

PRESIDENT DEALS WITH HIS RECOVERY PLANS IN MESSAGE

ASKS CO-OPERATION FOR PRESENT PROGRAM AND FOR FUTURE WELFARE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(AP)—President Roosevelt called upon congress today for a rigid continuation of the recovery campaign on the path of "reform of old methods."

In a personal appearance before the joint session of congress, Mr. Roosevelt read his message reporting progress in domestic recovery and proposing "stringent preventive or regulatory measures" for income tax evaders, negligent bank officials and speculators.

International monetary stabilization could not be established at this time, he declared.

The president reserved specific legislative recommendations for later. Conceding that the NRA may need revision from time to time, he said it was permanent.

The message spoke of federal credit as "fortified" by economies and termed the farm acreage reduction procedure "succeeding."

The civil works plan, which the administration says has put 4,000,000 unemployed to work, would not deal with specifically; but Mr. Roosevelt said his policy would be to seek "to move as rapidly as possible from direct work to public employment."

The president spoke somewhat pessimistically of conditions in world affairs and repeated the American offer of co-operation for reduction of armament and lowering of "trade barriers." He warned, however, that "the United States cannot take part in political arrangements in Europe."

Mr. Roosevelt said that "the United States cannot take part in political arrangements in Europe."

JOHN GARNER IS BACK ON QUIET SENATE PRESIDING JOB; NOT TO HIS LIKING

BY MELVIN E. COLEMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

The up of a gavel in the subdued atmosphere of the federal senate signals today that John N. Garner, vice president of the United States, has resumed his constitutional duty of presiding over the senate and voting in case of a tie.

"But," says he, visualizing the dramatic majorities there is for in this senate."

Throughout the 30 years in which he served as a member, minority leader and finally speaker of the house of representatives, he was in the thick of seething political fights. He missed the excitement when he first went over the senate last March, but he indulges in no vain regrets.

"I always look beyond," he says.

"Looking backward doesn't get you anywhere."

He has three favorite recreations. In season he goes to baseball games whenever he can get away; in vacation times he goes to his home in Uvalde, Texas, and fishes. All the year round, he likes to swap yarns and he has a notable collection of anecdotes.

Fishing, however, is his chief joy. When he's home and the signs are good, he dons a battered hat, a flannel shirt open at the throat, and a none-too-clean overalls and comfortable, stub-toed shoes. He fills his pockets with thick cigars, sees that a canoe is securely lashed upside down on the top of his car and bids farewell to official cares. His general comes back with a string of bass.

A ready talker, he can parry and thrust in the verbal exchange of political debate or deliver a rousing oration. He likes audacity and frankness in others and practices those virtues. For example, today he describes himself thusly: "I'm the silent partner in the firm of Roosevelt and Garner."

The order was issued pending a hearing Jan. 15 by Judge Edwin S. Thomas.

The petitioners in affidavits filed with the court, contended that they had suffered personal hardship as a result of alleged discrimination by the code authority, particularly in reference to minimum wages.

The action was instituted last Friday by the Independent Clothing Company, Inc., Sokol Brothers, Inc., and Philip Scapellati, all of New Britain; and the Partisan Garment Company and the Billington Manufacturing Company of Bridgeport.

The restraining order permits the five firms to pay less than the minimum wages prescribed in the code and suit code of fair competition, and enjoins the authorities from issuing any NRA labels to the petitioners. The code authorities are also restrained from compelling to the national recovery administration.

In their affidavits the petitioners asserted that the code authority for their industry divided the country into Western and Eastern sections, providing a minimum of 40 cents for the Western. They contended that the code provided for the payment of the 40 cents minimum wage to learners or unskilled labor in the Western area, but no such provision was made for the Eastern section.

GRANT INJUNCTION STOP ENFORCEMENT COAT AND SUIT CODE

GENERAL JOHNSON AND OTHERS ARE RESTRAINED FROM TAKING ACTION

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 2.—(AP)—A temporary injunction restraining General Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, code authorities and United States officials from enforcing provisions of the coat and suit industry against the Connecticut manufacturers has been granted by the U. S. district court.

Issuance of the injunction was disclosed when the restraining order was served on U. S. District Attorney Frank S. Bergin, who was named as one of the defendants.

The order was issued pending a hearing Jan. 15 by Judge Edwin S. Thomas.

ORIENTAL SEERS AND SEEKERS SHED LIGHT ON TODAY'S QUEST *

This Present Period's Pursuit of a Better Order of Life Is Linked With the Star-Following Magi—Story Told by Politician—Business Man.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Once upon a time there was a politician, an office-holder, whose position paid him a large income, many marks of good fortune, and a "honest graft." For his part, he was an unusually high-grade man, who had not sold his soul to his job. He instinctively thought in terms of politics, government, and popular movements. And always he was wishful to find a better life for himself and for the public than the rather sordid one he knew.

This man, who is known to history by the two names of Levi and Matthew, was a tax-collector, or publican, under the Roman government, in the Province of Galilee. One day, while busy on his job, he was approached by Jesus, the new Teacher from Nazareth, and called to give up his position and to become a full-time disciple. Matthew, who, of course, already knew of Jesus, was not at all surprised by the call. He quit his tax-collecting position straightaway and that night gave a big feast for his new Master, to celebrate the event. He makes his home in the house of the tax-collector, and he later wrote.

For he did, long years after, write a book about Jesus, out of his own personal experience, and his study of the Bible. This book is now to be studied for six months by the many millions of members of the Sunday school. It is the first of the four Gospels in the New Testament. It bears the name of the man who was called by a public man—his interest in officialdom and his far-seeing way of looking at things; and his carefulness concerning records, as shown by the book's title.

His narrative is rather more austere than those of Luke and John; and he seems to have had the Jews ever in mind as he wrote; for he writes in the fulfiling of the Old Testament prophecy. Matthew's Gospel, which most fully gives the direct teachings of Jesus, is often called "the Gospel of the Kingdom."

To the Magi alone we owe the story of the Magi, the Wise Men from the East, who followed the Christmas Star to Bethlehem. He tells the story of the Magi, and the various ways of officialdom, and their visit to Herod, and that crafty ruler's relationship to the incident. Herod, like all tyrants, lived in constant fear of being supplanted.

From the exactness of the author's details, we know that the Magi Family had by this time moved from the Bethlehem inn, and were lodged in a house of the relative. After the wonder-tale of the shepherds there would be no lack of homes open to the Babe and His mother. Matthew makes clear that a considerable margin of time had elapsed since the birth; for Herod, but the age limit of Bethlehem, was to be destroyed at two years. So the Christmas pictures showing the Magi at the manger are all wrong.

Since the bright shadow of Christmas is still upon us, we feel a timely interest in the tale of these three rich and mighty astrologers from the distant East, in the lower Mesopotamian Valley. They represent the wisdom of the East at its best. For they were Seekers, studying the stars to seek out the meaning of things. The Magi started for the East in type of character, never more numerous than today, which pursues truth daintily and daintily.

An Adventurous Journey. In imagination we behold the large and sumptuous caravan of the Wise Men setting forth from their Persian home, down by the River Tigris, following a wonder-tale of the East, and the sign of a new king who came. They knew the common expectation which pervaded the world in their time, of a Deliverer to come, and a new day dawn for mankind.

With our vague notions of geography, present-day readers give no heed to the long, hard journey that lay between Babylon and Bethlehem. The journey, which may be made by motor in 24 hours; and I have done so. Recently a unique motor-bus of huge size, with 18 wheels, having provision for sleeping, and built in the desert, from the Nile to Cleveland for this Bagdad-Damascus run.

But the Magi had to go by camel, traveling by night and resting by day in the open desert, from sand storms and all the other mishaps of the changeless desert. They were doubtless weeks on the way—with what ponderings and consultations during the weary days of their journey. Their minds may easily picture.

Like Our Own Day. In the midst of the story, we pause to consider the parallel between the time of the Wise Men and today. We are in the thick of a world-wide unrest and a search for something More, Something Better. All of the post-war changes among the nations may be interpreted in these terms. Universal discontent is expressing itself by change, and by a search for a worthier life for mankind. Beneath the present ferment in America any observer may see the spirit of quest.

President Roosevelt has publicly said that "the people of the United States still recognize, and I believe, recognize with firmer faith than they have for many years, the values of the long run more than material values." He included the same address by declaring that "the spirit of America springs from faith—faith in the belief of the institutions of our land, and a true and abiding faith in the divine guidance of God."

All the goals that figure so largely in public discussion today—the abolition of unemployment and poverty, a fairer distribution of the rewards of life, a more brotherly relationship among all men and nations, the end of war and of private lawlessness, and the higher expression of every individual—are really spiritual goals. Men seeking spirit in the present time is akin to the quest of the Magi. They sought

BANK DEPOSITS UP TO $2,500 COVERED BY INSURANCE NOW

PROVIDES SAFETY FOR DEPOSITS AND REMOVES HOARDING CAUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (P)—A blanket of federal insurance for all bank deposits up to $2,500 today was proclaimed in effect for all except three per cent of the nation's bank depositors, drawing word from President Roosevelt that this should result in increased faith.

The action was declared consummated less than ten months after the close of an epoch-making banking holiday that saw the doors of every such institution from coast to coast locked shut.

Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the federal deposit insurance corporation, who plans to leave his post shortly, reported to the president that only one per cent of 141 of the bank's applying were found ineligible.

In all, 13,423 banks were insured. Extending until July 1, 1934, in its present form, the insurance will then be increased to cover in full deposits of up to $10,000, with partial insurance for much larger accounts.

All national banks and member banks of the federal reserve system automatically come under the insurance, but State banks were required to meet strict standards.

Repeating to his report, Mr. Roosevelt congratulated Cummings upon accomplishing in a few months "with complete success a gigantic task which the pessimists said could not possibly be done before January 1."

Republican Senator Praises Guarantee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (P)—Praising the inauguration of insurance of bank deposits, Senator Vandenberg, (R-Mich.), who was author of the plan, said today in a statement it provided safety for the depositor and removed "any remote excuse for hoarding."

Vandenberg, who wrote the amendment to the bank law providing for the temporary insurance plan which went into effect today, said the plan was "a guarantee of the nation's financial future, and a guarantee of the nation's financial future, and a guarantee of the nation's financial future."

Saying the temporary plan covered the best part of the nation's deposits, Vandenberg added: "This is the mass among whom hysteria generates runs, upon the one hand, and among whom social tragedies occur when banks close, upon the other hand."

He said the fund "actually risks less than 30 per cent of the total banking resources of the country."

"The savings of America now at risk," he added, "there no longer is any remote excuse for hoarding. General banking no longer should be menaced by postal savings competition. The present situation should be permanently improved."

Government May Now Examine State Banks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (P)—For the first time in history the federal government today had power to examine state banks while they still were under the full control of state banking departments.

This became known when Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the reconstruction corporation, revealed that in buying capital notes, more than 3,000 state banks a clause had been included in the contract of purchase whereby once a year the corporation can examine the books of the banks.

This examination, he said, is to take place at the time the bank is being examined by the state authority.

The reconstruction corporation board has authorized purchase of $225,000,000 of preferred stock and capital notes in 4,524 banks. Applications have been received from 4,776.

The corporation has purchased $575,000,000 of preferred stock in 1,058 banks which are members of the federal reserve system and capital notes totaling $248,273,000 in 3,391 member banks.

Jones said the corporation has a majority of the stock in "very few banks."

While part of the Texas panhandle reported the first snow of the year, virtually all other sections of the State were drenched by heavy rains overnight, with prospective for additional precipitation before the end of the day.

In most instances the snow did not remain on the ground long, melting rapidly as it fell. Temperatures in the northwest fell to as low as 20 degrees, reported at Amarillo. The precipitation there was .04 inch.

The heaviest rain was reported from Austin and it had not stopped. Thunderstorms were prevalent through a wide area of Central, East and South Texas. Palestine had 32 inch rain.

ROOSEVELT COMES TO COUNSEL WITH CONGRESS HE SAYS

HAVING UNDERTAKEN NEW METHODS THEY MUST BE PERFECTED MESSAGE SAYS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (P)—The text of President Roosevelt's address to a joint session of congress today follows:

I come before you at the opening of the regular session of the 73rd congress, not to make requests for special legislation, but to discuss the most serious part of the debt burden affected those who stood in danger of losing their farms and their homes. I am glad to tell you that refinancing in both of these cases is proceeding with good success and in all probability within the financial limits set by the congress.

From more than its debt. Actual experience with the operation of the Agricultural Adjustment act leads to my belief that thus far the experiment of seeking a balance between production and consumption is succeeding and has made progress entirely in line with reasonable expectations towards the restoration of farm prices to parity.

I continue in my conviction that industrial progress and prosperity can only be attained by bringing the purchasing power of the nation's population into line with the production of goods. I am convinced that industrial progress and prosperity can only be attained by bringing the purchasing power of the nation's population into line with the production of goods.

Such a structure includes not only the relations of industry and agriculture and finance to each other, but also the relations of these three have on our individual citizens and on the whole people as a nation.

Now that we are definitely in the process of recovery, lines have been rightly drawn between those who are permanent readers of the return to old methods—and the number of these people is small—and those for whom recovery means a reform of many old methods.

Go Forward. Civilization can not go back! Civilization must not stand still. We have undertaken new methods. It is our task to perfect, to improve, to alter when necessary, to put in all cards to forward. To consolidate what we are doing, to make our economic and social structure capable of dealing with modern life is the task of the legislative and executive branches of the national government.

Without regard to party, the overwhelming majority of our people seek a better opportunity for humanity to prosper and find happiness. They recognize that human welfare has not increased and does not increase through mere materialism and luxury, but through progress through integrity, unselfishness, responsibility, and justice.

In the past few months, as a result of our action, we have demanded of many citizens that they surrender certain licenses to do as they pleased in their business relationships; but we have asked this in exchange for the protection which the state can give against exploitation by their fellow men or by combinations of their fellow men.

Congress. I congratulate this congress upon the courage, the earnestness and the efficiency with which you met the crisis at the special session. It was under your fine leadership that the nation's problem that furnished the example which the country has so splendidly followed. I venture to say that the task confronting the first congress of 1933 was no greater than your own.

I shall not attempt to set forth either the many phases of the crisis which we experienced or the many phases of the recovery which you and I undertook during the special session that we might initiate recovery and reform.

It is sufficient that I should speak in brief terms of the results of our common counsel. The credit of the government has been fortified by drastic reduction in the cost of its permanent agencies through the economy act.

With the two-fold purpose of strengthening the whole financial structure and of arriving eventually at a balance of exchange which will have over the years less variable purchasing and debt paying power for our people than that of the past, I have used the authority granted me to purchase all American produced gold and silver and to buy additional gold in the world markets.

Nations Handicapped. Careful investigation in the matter of foreign exchange rates, certain of our sister nations find themselves so handicapped by internal and other conditions that they are unable to compete in the world market.

The overwhelming majority of the banks, both national and state, which reopened last spring, are in sound condition and have been brought within the protection of federal insurance. In the case of those banks which have been permitted to reopen, nearly 600 million dollars of frozen deposits are being restored to the depositors through the assistance of the national government.

We have made great strides toward the objectives of the national Industrial Recovery act, for not only have several millions of our unemployed been restored to work, but the industry is organizing itself with a greater understanding that reasonable profits can be earned while at the same time protection can be given to guarantee to labor adequate pay and proper conditions of work.

Child Labor Abolished. Child labor is abolished. Uniform standards of hours and of wages apply today to 95 per cent of industrial employment within the field of the National Industrial Recovery act.

We select a half inch of rain and there was a like fall at Wichita Falls, where the temperature dropped from 37 to 34 in an hour between 8 a. m. and 9 a. m.

A heavy wind and rain storm struck Milam and adjoining counties just before daylight. Rivers began rising and minor damage was done. Temperatures then began dropping.

At Kerrville, a drought of several months' duration was broken last night when 2.75 inches of rain fell. Crops were up and the Gaudin river rose eight feet. There was a little hail but no damage was done.

Under the authority of this congress, we have brought the component parts of each industry together around a common table, just as we have brought problems affecting labor to a common meeting ground.

Though the machinery, hurriedly revised, may need re-adjustment from time to time, nevertheless I think you will agree with me that we have created a permanent feature of our modern industrial structure and that it will continue under the supervision but not the arbitrary dictation of government itself.

Farms and Homes Saved. You recognized last spring that the most serious part of the debt burden affected those who stood in danger of losing their farms and their homes. I am glad to tell you that refinancing in both of these cases is proceeding with good success and in all probability within the financial limits set by the congress.

Arresting Sentences Roosevelt Message

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. (P)—Arresting sentences from President Roosevelt's address to congress:

"x x x Recovery means a reform of many old methods, a permanent readjustment of many of our ways of thinking and therefore of many of our social and economic arrangements."

"Civilization can not go back; civilization must not stand still. We have undertaken new methods, to improve, to alter when necessary, but in all cases to go forward."

"The overwhelming majority of our people seek a greater opportunity for humanity to prosper and find happiness."

"Child labor is abolished."

"Not only have several millions of our unemployed been restored to work, but industry is organizing itself with a greater understanding that reasonable profits can be earned while at the same time protection can be given to guarantee to labor adequate pay and proper conditions of work."

"I cannot, unfortunately, present to you a picture of complete optimism regarding world affairs."

"I have made it clear that the United States cannot take part in political arrangements in Europe but that we stand ready to cooperate at any time in practicable ways."

Governor Murray Plans Ouster For District Judge

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 2. (P)—Governor Murray today ordered the attorney general to institute ouster proceedings against District Judge Mark L. Bozarth of Oklahoma, who was convicted here last month and fined $500 on a charge of receiving double salary warrants.

In his executive order to Attorney General J. Berry King, the governor recommended that pending disposition of the ouster proceedings, the attorney general seek a writ of prohibition "against the said Mark L. Bozarth, convict, from exercising any judicial functions or sitting as judge over that (Oklahoma) or any other district."

Formal sentence was passed on the veteran judge by District Judge Lucius Babcock last Dec. 15 after a motion for a new trial had been denied.

Murray's order sets out that "the said defendant is given six months to appeal, which appeal will lie in the supreme criminal court of appeals for a length of time no one knows."

measures on a world basis looking to immediate reduction of armaments and the lowering of the barriers against commerce."

"We have, I hope, made it clear to our neighbors that we seek with them future avoidance of territorial expansion and of interference by one nation in the internal affairs of another."

PLUGGING LOOPHOLES

The subcommittee of the house ways and means committee is going ahead in its attempt to plug the loopholes in the federal income tax law with a determination that gives promise of greatly enhancing the value of this law as an income producer.

Testimony given at senate committee hearings during the last year or so have shown conclusively the existence of many ways in which payers of income taxes could evade the intent of the statute. The government thus was deprived of millions of dollars which it would have received had there not been so many loopholes. It was disclosed that one of the widespread practices used to establish market losses for income tax purposes by the exchange of property or securities between members of a family, or between a shareholder and a corporation in which the shareholders held a majority of the voting stock.

The committee has recommended a definition of the term "family" and made other recommendations covering this point which, if adopted, it believes will make the practice impossible in the future. Numerous other changes in the existing law have been proposed.

Should the changes recommended be carried out, the subcommittee believes more than $270,000,000 will be realized by the government, and that when business returns to normal the additional revenue will be much greater.

The work of revising the income tax law is an important one. The statute was intended to prove valuable as a revenue producer. As it stands, however, the very persons who should be the largest contributors escape a large part of their share because they are able to hire highly paid attorneys who guide them into ways that make this legally possible. The less wealthy, unable to do this, pay. Such a condition needs to be remedied, and congress ought to make one of the earliest tasks which it places its hand.

TAXEATER ARMY

Not malaria germs, not yellow fever, not leprosy, but public jobholders are the subject of the latest survey by the Rockefeller Foundation. (There's an excellent opening for some way to ask, "What's the difference?")

It is estimated that the American taxpayers support 2,600,000 men and women at the public trough, and the survey is intended to cover them all from street sweeper to senator, which somebody says is in the order of their importance.

Out of the tax pocket of the people and business comes $4,000,000,000 annually to pay the salaries and wages of these public servants, an amount sufficient to make the taxpayers and consumers wonder if they get $4,000,000,000 worth of benefit from that expenditure and to make the Rockefeller Foundation curious as to the answer.

Without spending a year surveying John Smith, taxpayer, could tell the Social Science Research Council, which will superintend the survey, that a great many of these public jobholders are not worth a dollar's worth of public service for every tax dollar they receive. The results of the

THE HANGMAN
He wouldn't tell his name
Or the place from whence he came
He went about his business
In a sudden, ghastly way;
Built a trestle and a noose
On a rope which dangled loose,
For he'd come to hang a felon
At the dawning of the day.

He was business-like and grim
And to all who spoke to him
He was terse and crisp and surly.
As a hangman ought to be.
He attached each leather strap
And death's black and solemn cap
In a most efficient manner
As the witnesses could see.

Then he threw the bar aside
And a human being died.
But he made no sign of pity,
Was it wrong or was it right?
Ere the little room had cleared
He had swiftly disappeared
And was on his way to somewhere
In the blackness of the night.

REFORMS NEEDED

That present laws and rules of criminal procedure in many ways favor the accused and work for the defeat of justice frequently has been emphasized in connection with the crime wave in the United States.

Recent mob action in many parts of the country has given the fact additional emphasis and caused revival of demands that reforms be instituted.

Criminal procedure varies in the different states. The American Law institute sometime ago made a study of this and on the basis of its survey formulated a model code intended to be a guide to the states in reforming their laws and procedure. Renewed attention now is being directed to the institute's study and to its code.

Numerous illustrations of how criminals are favored by the laws of court procedure in the different states were given by the institute in making its report. Some states, it was found, give more peremptory challenges of jurors to the defense than to the prosecution. Under the model code, this would be abolished and each side would have the same number of challenges—three for misdemeanor, six for felonies and 10 for capital cases. Other reform would include lessening the advantage given a defendant by a hung jury. This would be accomplished by permitting verdicts to be returned by a two-thirds jury vote in less than penitentiary cases and five-sixths in felonies. The unanimity rule would not be disturbed in capital offenses.

To take care of emergencies such as may be caused by the disqualification or death of a juror, the model code provides for the selection of alternate jurors. This feature already has been adopted by several states in an effort to prevent delays and expenses of new trials. It does seem time for laws to be revised and procedure reformed in ways to give society a break in protecting itself against criminals. The delay and often the frustration of justice, made possible by advantages now given the accused, has been a factor in mob violence.

COLLEGE ENROLLMENTS

When the depression began to exert financial pressure the universities and colleges saw visions of deserted dormitories, vanishing endowments and empty treasuries. Higher education was worried, to say the least.

Like most bridges we cross before we come to them this one hardly existed at all. Endowments shrank somewhat and new gifts became fewer and smaller but the great exodus of students for financial reasons did not materialize. Relatively few students were forced to interrupt their education and those who had to postpone survey are predictable it will accomplish some useful purpose if it lends authenticity, prestige and force to People's Grievance No. 1. Perhaps if congress, the state legislatures and the municipal job-makers see facts in print under the seal of the Rockefeller Foundation they may look them in the face and do something about it.

THE FACE AT THE WINDOW

—By Clive Weed

THE SHEEP AND THE GOATS

What to do with the nearly 4,000 persons now in federal prisons for violating the late prohibition law is a question facing government authorities.

That they should be forced to complete their sentences, as a rule, seems hardly just. The law they violated has been repudiated and cast aside by the people and there can be no question that this action did not have popular support. A recent census gives the total of federal liquor law violators as 3,765.

Many of these are persons who never had been in conflict with the law. There are others, however, whose records brand them as confirmed criminals—persons who have devoted the greater part of their lives to unlawful pursuits. To release these would probably mean that they soon would be preying on society in some new form.

It seems, therefore, that any amnesty plan decided on must take into consideration the fact that liquor prisoners are made up of two classes—those whose records are clean with the exception of liquor law violations and those against whom there are other black marks. Care should be exercised that an army of gangsters and gunmen of a vicious type is not released when and if the prison doors are opened under a grant of amnesty to liquor law violators.

The latest statistics are surprisingly favorable. The enrollment of full-time students has dropped in two years in the four largest universities from 57,276 to 55,813. The total enrollment, which includes day students, shows an even smaller shrinkage.

Loans to students from foundations and by alumni, employment furnished to the deserving by the schools themselves and sacrifices made by parents, guardians and other relatives and friends are saving thousands of educations in spite of almost insuperable obstacles. America is determined to be well educated at any cost.

Doesn't the way General Johnson overworks his optimism violate some NRA code or other?

An Old Timer is one who can remember the good old days when a $50 note was only change.

The NRA means shorter hours for all work except the work of making the NRA work.

APPLICATION FOR CWA FUNDS PLANNED FOR LAKE HALBERT

Employees of the City of Corsicana, engineering department were engaged Tuesday in completing an application for CWA funds for an extensive beautification program at Lake Halbert, and the petition will be presented to the supervising director in Austin Thursday.

The application was initiated after requests had been made to CWA officials for information, and T. D. Broad, CWA parks supervisor had visited in Corsicana last Saturday, looked over the project sites and frankly discussed the possibilities with City Engineer W. W. McClendon and others.

The beautification project as conceived at present would take in all of the lake area east of the Trinity and Brazos Valley Railway and will include winding roads, shrubbery, reforestation, bridge paths, and the construction of a large shelter house for the use of the public. The estimated cost of the project would be about $23,000, with only about $7,300 for materials.

The shelterhouse would be built of stone and would afford both summer and winter accommodations. If the application is granted, preparations are being made to start a force of 200 men at work on the job immediately.

FATHER CORSICANA WOMAN PASSED AWAY AT IRENE DEC. 21

William Bailey, a resident of the Irene community for more than 20 years, passed away Dec. 21, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mattie Littlejohn. Funeral rites were held at Irene Methodist church by B. E. Kimbro, and concluded at Salem cemetery with the Masons in charge.

Mr. Bailey was born in Calhoun county, Mississippi, in 1859, but came to Texas about 1900, settling in the Emmett community of Navarro county. He moved to Irene in 1919, and lived there until his death.

Deceased was married to Martha Toal 52 years ago, and to this union were born eight children, four of whom survive. Those living are: Mrs. B. Littlejohn of Irene; Mrs. Della Bailey of Hubbard; Mrs. Willie May of Athens, and Mrs. Mary Price of Corsicana. Three brothers and three sisters also survive him: Andy Bailey of Mississippi; Charley Bailey of Mineral Wells; Jim Bailey of Corsicana; Mrs. Pattie Timmer of Mississippi; Mrs. Lizzie Terry of Athens; also 25 grandchildren.

Mr. Bailey was converted and united with the Methodist church in 1895, and was an active, loyal member until his death. He was a devout Christian and never failed to support all church work regardless of denomination. To him the gospel was "good news" from any pulpit. Like Stephen, he did not die but "fell asleep in Jesus," and no acquaintance of Mr. Bailey can doubt his receiving the reward of the faithful for we know he fought the good fight and kept the faith.

Because of the loss of a progressive and upright citizen, the Irene community will suffer. For all upright and progressive movements in his community, state or nation, Mr. Bailey fought tenaciously. The book of his life is a noble and shining example in it. In the spiritual and material phases of life, we, the host of his friends, feel an irrefragable loss.—Contributed.

INTERESTING LIST OF LEGISLATION TO FACE NEW CONGRESS

LIQUOR TAX BILL IS FIRST ON LIST IMPORTANT ACTION EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Here is a partial list of legislation that probably will be enacted by the 73rd congress before the close of its present session.

A liquor tax bill, placing a levy of $2 a gallon on spirits, designed to raise more than $500,000,000 in revenue.

A general tax measure, revising the income tax law and tightening loopholes, estimated to produce $270,000,000 annually; Eleven major supply bills, carrying appropriations for ordinary federal activities.

Additional appropriation bills, possibly carrying sums running into the billions for emergency spending; Authorization for the continuation of the Reconstruction Corporation and the Civilian Conservation Corps;

Agencies of the basic acts under which the NRA and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration were founded, and some revision of the securities act; and, possibly, authorization for the President to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements without submitting each to the senate for ratification.

Additional legislation probably to be debated, some of which is almost certain of enactment, includes:

Cincinnati Has Large Balance In Its Treasury

CINCINNATI, Jan. 2.—(AP)—With a balance of nearly four million dollars in its exchequer, Cincinnati—where the charter form of government established a record yesterday by entering its ninth year—starts 1934 with a comfortable feeling of security and pride.

That feeling was explained today in the report of City Manager C. A. Dykstra, who remarked that "Cincinnati has been immensely more fortunate than most cities."

She is meeting her debts as they come due, without resort to strenuous efforts; her bill holds $3,831,866, or more than $1,400,000 in excess of the balance as of Dec. 31, 1932, he reported.

Expenses have been reduced more than two million dollars since 1931, and a 5 per cent cut in the pay of municipal employees has been restored.

"We lost no public deposits in failing banks and comparatively few of our citizens had such losses. Tax revenues have been remarkably well," says Dykstra.

FORMER BOXER AND ENTERTAINER WILL ASSIST IN REVIVAL

Johnny Raine, of Tyler, former boxer, radio and theatre entertainer, who was converted last year, will assist a theatre performance and W. E. Hudnall, in the revival services which opened last night at the Nazarene church on North Ninth street, and which will continue for two weeks. Raine will give the story of his life and present a religious musical program next Monday night, Jan. 8.

He was a boxer for three years and is reputed to have met some of the best pugilists in the South. Three years before his conversion on Jan. 17, last year, in Glade-water, he was a theatre performer and radio entertainer. He plays the harmonica and guitar simultaneously, and is also a singer of note. The former boxer will assist in the preaching and have charge of the musical portion of the services each night. The general public is cordially invited to attend the revival services.

FORMER PIONEER CORSICANA SCHOOL TEACHER IS DEAD

HUNTSVILLE, Jan. 4.—Miss Ida Lawrence died here Wednesday morning. She is survived by a sister, Miss Augusta Lawrence, of Huntsville. Miss Lawrence, native of Georgia, was a resident of Tyler and taught from 1882 to 1888 in the Corsicana public schools. She was teacher of history in Sam Houston State Teachers' college from 1893 till a few years ago, when she retired. Burial will be at Tyler Thursday afternoon.

The above item concerning the death of Miss Ida Lawrence will be read with deep regret by many early-day students of the Corsicana public schools. As above stated Miss Lawrence taught school in this city in the early days of the public school system, and won a warm place in the hearts of the students as well as the citizenship in general for her many high qualities of character.

parallel of which the river winds in the northern border of the Associated Press was given to understand that if Bolivia withdraws troops from this zone Paraguay will agree that the world court may determine position of the entire remainder of the Chaco, including the Mennonite colonies and some of the more highly developed foreign holdings.

However, according to reliable advice, insists that if it withdraws from the Hayes zone Paraguay must retire to positions occupied for months ago, and form a neutral commission to administer the area vacated until it has been submitted to arbitration.

This segment, a triangle slightly larger than Delaware, lying along longitude 60 and to the west, contains the late Bolivian stronghold, Fort Munoz. Its seizure by Paraguay was claimed by Bolivia to have occurred after the armistice of December 19 was in effect.

Establishment of this neutral zone is a condition sought by League arbitrators in conversations with President Alaya in Asuncion, the Paraguayan capital.

Paraguayan sources have insisted that such consent is impossible lest Paraguay find herself finally arbitrating only this comparatively insignificant corner of the Chaco instead of the more developed region which it has been waging war to retain.

BUDGET

newspapermen that the more than ten billion dollars to be spent this fiscal year is not up to the limit authorized by congress.

"The results of expenditures already made," his message read, "show themselves in concrete form in better prices for farm commodities, in renewed business activity, in increased employment, in reopening of and restored confidence in banks, and in well-organized relief."

Over Billion to Be Asked.

Ther respective seven billion dollar deficit for this year includes $1,168,000,000 additional to be asked from congress for continuing until summer the vast civil works administration and financing the home loan bank system.

Mr. Roosevelt told newspapermen he would just as soon have the two billion dollar recovery fund he has asked for next year in a lump sum. If congress prefers to itemize it, he does want one authority to switch funds from one item to another.

His ideas for use of this two billion dollars next year are, roughly: $500,000,000 to supplement the reconstruction finance corporation; $300,000,000 for the civil conservation corps; and $300,000,000 to $800,000,000 for unemployment relief.

"It is clear," said the president, "that the necessity for relief and recovery will still be with us during the year 1934-35. Additional relief funds will be necessary."

Prohibit Termination Now.

"Further needs of the country prohibit the abrupt termination of the recovery program."

"No person can on this date definitely predict the total amount that will be needed for the itemizing of such an amount."

"It is my best judgment at this time that a total appropriation of not to exceed two billion dollars will be made next year out of existing appropriations, be sufficient."

The huge reconstruction corporation, called upon to finance much of the business and banking structure of the nation, is charged with almost $4,000,000,000 of the $7,000,000,000 deficit for this year.

This money is in loans. A credit of $400,000,000 in payment is counted upon for next year. The president hinted to newspapermen possible but unforeseen loans to business next year.

The public works administration is charged with $1,677,190,800 of the "emergency" expenditures for this year. Another $1,089,883,100 of the $3,300,000,000 fund is expected to be spent next year.

Three Projects Too Much.

Civilian conservation work, the federal deposit insurance corporation and the agriculture adjustment administration accounted for the remainder of the emergency outlay for this year.

Next year's emergency budget allows an additional $31,000,000 for the Tennessee Valley authority; $84,100,000 for emergency conservation work; $12,650,000 for federal land banks; and $5,000,000 for the agriculture adjustment administration.

The president's message states that if the RFC loaning authority is extended beyond next June 30, "it is contemplated that any additional loans by it would thereafter be taken from the new and additional recovery fund herein-after referred to."

The president announced the issuance of executive orders extending the authority of directors of the budget-Lewis Douglas—over all extraordinary expenditures hereafter, and also the audit authority of the comptroller general over the items.

In his message, he noted that the budget for the new year—the first he has submitted to congress—shows a reduction of $84,913,167 in the regular ordinary expenditures over the budget submitted a year ago by the outgoing administration.

CORSICANA CITIZENS AVERAGED MORE THAN 56 GALLONS WATER EACH DURING PAST 12 MONTHS

Corsicana citizens averaged using more than 56 gallons of water each per day for domestic and industrial purposes during the year 1933 according to the pumping records for the Lake Elbert pump station recently compiled by city officials. The total gallons for the year was 208,701,000, or an average of 548,500 gallons per day.

Water consumption for the year showed a considerable gain over the past year over 1932, some 21,000,000 gallons more being pumped into the city mains during the year 1933 than in the preceding year, and average of more than four gallons per person per day.

Special Summer Rates.

A portion of the gain may be accounted for in the use of water by many citizens on their yards and gardens during the months of July, August and September when special rates were granted by the city commission; during these months the gallonsage showed a net gain of five million gallons over last 1932. It is interesting to note however that in August 1933 the consumption showed a loss of five million gallons compared with the same month of the previous year—and that the month that began was legalized in Texas—but not in Navarro county.

July led the list with a consumption of 33 million gallons, followed by September with 31 million, and June 30 million gallons; February retained its usual to fix tariffs, negotiate reciprocal trade treaties and classify industries according to their economic importance, with the least important designated for possible tariff reductions.

Meanwhile, the house prepared to plunge directly into debate on the new half-billion dollar liquor tax bill immediately after receiving the budget message. Action is expected by the week-end. The senate made the budget message its chief point of business.

As further evidence of congressional speed, the senate finance committee met to consider the nomination of Henry Morant, Jr., as secretary of the treasury, even before it was formally submitted by the President.

Two senate investigating committees also were in action, the banking committee studying the Detroit bank troubles, and the special judiciary subcommittee investigating the administration of bankruptcies.

On the house side, the silver bloc was called into session to try to formulate a legislative program on which its various factions could unite. Already 100 members of the house were pledged for remonetization of silver through a petition signed last session.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex.) also called the house agriculture committee to consider his bill to make livestock a basic commodity under the agricultural adjustment law.

Despite the obvious desire of leaders on both sides for quick action on administration measures, however, the senate was in somewhat of a stalemate. It had

MAKEUP HINTS

CLEVER MAKE-UP
If you follow Miss Forbes' frequent advice, you will be an artist in makeup, and thereby greatly improve your looks. Read her instructions today.

The craze for make-up goes on steadily, although I think that women are now using it with discretion. I notice, for instance, a great contrast in three cities where I spend a lot of my time. In Hollywood the colors are glaring, which may be partly due to the brilliant sunlight that shows up the artificial coloring. In New York the colors on women's faces are brilliant enough to look artificial, yet the makeup is cleverer than one rather likes it. In London not nearly so much color is used, but it frequently looks as if it were hastily or awkwardly put on.

When you make up your face, begin with a very clear skin, preferably one washed with soap and water. Use toilet water or astringent, and over this a foundation cream which is quickly absorbed by the skin. The powder over this by patting the powder thickly all over the face. Do not rub it in but let the cream absorb it, then use your dry rouge, lipstick, eye-shadow, mascara or whatever else you indulge in. Afterward powder again thickly, but this time rub the powder gently, so that you're not too much on the skin but so it has spread evenly. This second powdering gives the skin the dull finish you require, and it also blends the rouge so it does not stand out too artificially. You must be careful not to powder over the eyes; otherwise you would have to make up the eyelashes again.

If you are a business woman, with no chance to go home and dress up for the evening after your office hours, you can buy little cases containing small tubes of cream, powder, rouge, lipstick, and in some even mascara. These are so small they can be slipped into the handbag and they are certainly a wonderful convenience. They should really be made with two tubes of cream, one cleansing and one foundation cream. However, the cleansing cream makes a good enough foundation.

Mrs. E. R.—There is nothing you can do yourself to restore the natural color to the lashes that have suddenly turned white.

Lashes may be colored successfully, and many persons have this done for them when their lashes are too light to be becoming. You might try having this done, and there is a possibility that the white hairs might drop out and be replaced with new ones that would have the old color in them again.

Mrs. B. H. R.—I shall be glad to reply to your letter through the mail; if that is your wish, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope when you forward your inquiry.

D. M. A.—Your hair will recover much faster now if you cut off all the portion that has been injured by so many lotions. All artificial, yet the makeup is so this dried and stained portions are worthless, as you are compelled to tuck it under to hide it. It really drains the vitality of the new hair coming along from the roots, just as dead leaves and branches affect plants. Hair that is very healthy and strong will stand having dye extracted from it, and then take a fresh dyeing of another color, but it is exceptional when it passes through all this without showing deterioration.

A. S.—I shall be glad to send you the hair tonic formula if you forward a stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing.

R. D.—Blushing usually comes from self-consciousness. If you can succeed in diverting your mind at the right time you may avoid the unpleasant experience of the blush. One very helpful thing is to take a deep breath and hold it an instant. This claims your attention and also eases the circulation, which makes a blush impossible.

A. T. SMITH WILL HAVE IMPLEMENT DEMONSTRATION

Beginning January 8th, next Monday, and running until Saturday, Jan. 13th, will hold John Deere Implement Week, under the Fred M. Allison shed, back of my store on Commerce and Benton Street. We will be able to show you the latest improved farm implements on the market today from a one horse plow to the most wonderful 4-row farm tractor, ever been made.

Ninety-seven years ago John Deere gave to the world the first steel plow that would plow the black land soil. Deere Factory covers 75 acres of land and are building plows that will pull one mule lighter than any other plow that will go in the field and do the work that the John Deere will do. We will have these plows here to show you next week.

Your repair bill will be less on John Deere implements because they are built out of the best material that money and brains can build.

Beginning with the planter, John Deere built a one-row, 2 row and 4 row planter. You can plant with John Deere on any kind of seed from millet to peanuts in the hull-cotton seed, you can plant from a single seed to 3 bushels to the acre and no change.

Cultivator—John Deere has built a foot-guide cultivator that any boy can handle. A team can go in the field and do perfect work regardless of the conditions of the land.

Grain Drills—The John Deere Van Brunt is an adjustable gate force feed.

Hay Machinery—John Deere No. 2 and No. 3 Mowers are equipped with tongue and are noted for their light draft.

Grain Binders—The John Deere has more roller bearings than any binder in the field today—that's where you get your light draft.

Tractors—The John Deere General Purpose two and four row tractor is built to burn low price fuel.

It will be worth your time to come in next week and see this new model 1934 tractor and all implements. We will have them all on display here next week, Jan. 8th to 13th. We will have with us next week a John Deere representative who will be glad to demonstrate the full John Deere line to you.

Any farmer living in Navarro county that has any kind of fine seed to sell, chickens or anything else you have to sell, bring it in. It is all free.

BONDS

(Continued From Page One.) necessary for the remaining portion of the $2,750,000 in bonds to be readvertised through advertisement that the Texas relief bond committee will be in a position to place a bid for the full amount of the remainder of the $2,750,000 in bonds. The statutory requirements for the sale of state bonds provide for notice through advertisement, and accordingly the state comptroller, acting under the advice of the attorney general, has fixed the date of the sale of the remaining bonds on January 22.

"In the meantime, plans are continuing for a wide distribution of bonds, and the success of the efforts appears assured."

AUSTIN, Jan. 4.—(P)—The Texas bond commission, desiring to be re-advertised the relief bonds today, tentatively set January 22 as the date to receive bids on the $2,750,000 in bonds, which were received December 21.

Pat Dooley, chief clerk in the comptroller's department, said $1,148,000 in bonds had been tentatively assigned to maturity dates. The bonds were assigned to maturity dates by the comptroller, and the assignment was made on the basis of the date of the first issue and that the bidding could not be kept open indefinitely. The bond commission originally had planned to accept bids on the unsold portion even though the time for submitting bids had expired.

James V. Allred, attorney general and chairman of the bond commission, said no request had been made by the Texas relief commission for sale of the second issue of $2,750,000 authorized by the legislature. The law makes it incumbent on the relief commission to ask for sale of the bonds before the bond commission can act.

The task of signing the bonds was being completed. Each of the bonds must be signed by the governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general and twice by the comptroller.

FORT WORTH, Jan. 4.—(P)—First money to be realized from the sale of Texas relief bonds may be available early next week, J. W. Lafferty, secretary of the $2,700,000 buy-a-bond campaign, said today.

More telegrams and letters bidding on the bonds were received. A list of all of the bids is being compiled and may be ready tomorrow.

The amount Fort Worth banks bid on the bonds has been increased to $155,000 with the subscription of the Fraternal Bank and Trust company for $30,000 worth of bonds. The Fraternal company is a negro institution of which W. M. McDonald is president.

It is expected that more out-of-state subscriptions will be received. The first one was from the National Life and Accident Insurance company of Nashville.

More than $1,225,000 worth of the bond may be sold at an early date as an estimate says that more than this amount has been subscribed.

GILMER, Jan. 4.—(P)—Fire consumed the dry goods store of J. Wall and J. Kurtz early today.

Oklahoma Bank Robbed by Four Men Thursday

MANGUM, Okla., Jan. 4.—(P)—The First State Bank of Willow, Ford county, was robbed of about $800 today by four men who cut telephone wires to the town.

After locking J. H. Ford, cashier, and Bill Osborn, teller, in the bank vault, the robbers kidnaped Miss Jewel Patton, bookkeeper, but released her unharmed 11-2 miles east of town. The car headed toward Sayre on highway 283, demanding to side roads part of the time.

Due to a late alarm, only one posse car was able to follow the robbers automobile immediately.

The band were a party (1933) Ford Sedan bearing Kansas license tag number 2-3129.

Three of the robbers entered the bank soon after it opened and, drawing pistols, cut them and, telling Miss Patton, "we're going to take you for a ride."

Miss Patton said there were no guns on the car and there was hardly room for her to sit down.

Beginning with the planter, John Deere built a one-row, 2 row and 4 row planter. You can plant with John Deere on any kind of seed from millet to peanuts in the hull-cotton seed, you can plant from a single seed to 3 bushels to the acre and no change.
